ASX ANNOUNCEMENT

Company completes name change and places shortfall

Pental Limited (formerly Symex Holdings Limited) (Pental or Company, ASX code: PTL) is pleased to announce that it has placed an additional 42,579,005 shares arising from the shortfall from its recently completed Rights Issue. As a result, the Company has scaled back the number of underwritten shares issued to an entity associated with a director, Alan Johnstone, so that his voting power in the Company remains below 20%. Details of the number of shares issued to Mr Johnstone's entity and his voting power are the subject of separate filings with ASX.

Totals raised under the Rights Issue are as follows:

Number of New Shares issued	1,255,446,956
Value	$18.831m
Total number of Shares on issue	1,475,779,472

The Company also raised $431,000 under a placement completed immediately prior to the Rights Issue.

As previously stated, the amount raised is well in excess of the minimum subscription of $10 million under the prospectus for the Rights Issue and will enable the Company to undertake its proposed restructuring.

The Company also advises that, following approval at the Company' AGM, it has now completed its name change to Pental Limited.
